For The Evening Telegraph. RESURRECTION. There is a rainbow in the cloud That overhangs the grave. The shroud Is tinged with its bright glory-hues, And for the dead there is "good news." The man is weary, and weak, and old; His heart is drowsy, and numb with pain: He falls asleep: he is still and cold:

So sinks the sun. So falls the leaf, So the flowers unfold and fade. So the beautiful-frail and brief-In the dreary, winterly grave are laid.

He never will wake nor rise again,

But do not weep! Though the sun may sleep, And dark and cloudy may be the night, The day will break, and the sun shall wake, And scatter the clouds with kis morning light.

And so the leaf! And so the flowers! Winter is drear, and dark, and cold ; But spring will come with her suns and showers, And leaves and blossoms again unfold,

Then do not weep! Neither dark nor deep The grave should be, to believing eyes ; The Lord hath risen! Hath broke the prison' And all that sleep in the grave shall rise.

THE STONE ROLLED AWAY. By Rev. H. N. Powers.

The awful spectacle of Calvary was ended. After the tumultuous excitement of the populace, the agony, the darkness, and the earthquake, there was silence around the place of execution. The crowd who gathered to the crucifixion had dispersed. The disciples were scattered. The merciless perpetrators of the tragedy were apparently satisfied with their success. The people bore to their homes the vague and unrestful depression that follows strong excitement, and with the friends and followers of the Lord was the dull and gnawing pain of bereavement and disappointment. In the shadows of the evening the lifeless form of Jesus was laid in the new tomb in "the garden where be was crucified." The wounds were still fresh where the spear had pierced, and the nails had gored his tender hands and weary feet. The fair, bloodstained brow smarted no more from the cruel thorns. No scowling accusers confronted those closed and sightless eyes. The anguish and the bitterness were past; and the white face, calm, patient, uncomplaining, and strangely sweet, still spoke of the unfathomable heart that was pulseless now. A great stone was rolled against the door of the sepulchre; and as the Paschal moon silvered the foliage of the garden, and the fragrance of the flowers was wafted upon the dews, they left all that was visible of the Lord. But oh! how much was inclosed there that was dear; and how strange, and perplexing, and grievous it all seemed to those that loved so well. The night passed, and the Sabbath; and on the morning of the first day of the week the faithful women, eager with holy memories and affections, bearing spices and ointment to embalm Him, hastened to the sepulchre. But the stone was rolled away. Life had sprung from death. The buried victim was victor over the grave. He was not where they sought Him, but had risco. In due time He met the sorrowing ones with His benediction. The problem of being was solved. Immortality was assured. Christ is the first fruits. His own shall

EPISCOPAL.

-Bishop Staley's letter, resigning his Hawaiian bisbopric, denies that he was met on his to leave. According to his own report, there had been much controversy in the island as to the dean's proceedings during his absence—one party (including Queen Emma) warmly approving them, whilst others wished to be placed under the pastoral care of Mr. Williamson. bishop sanctioned the appointment of Mr. Williamson as chaplain to the king, and at the same time tendered his own resignation to the archbishop, partly on account of the disagree-ble position in which the controversy placed him and partly from his conviction that the islands were rapidly becoming Americanized and would be more properly connected with the American Episcopal Church

-On Tuesday evening last Bishop Stevens visited St. Alban's, and ministered confirmation —the laying on of hands—to a class of twenty-two persons. This is the largest class ever confirmed in this parish. Two others were added to the communion at the same time, thus making the whole number newly added twenty four. About twenty pews have been rented during the last three months. These facts of temporal and spiritual prosperity are cheering evidence that the "pentecostal spirit" is being graciously shed forth upon the parish of St.

-The California correspondent of the Churchan says that the richest Episcopal parish in San Ffancisco, so far as he can learn, has never given a dollar for any missionary work in the city. It has no mission Sunday-School, and never has had any, and never has given anything to any new and struggling parish. has managed to pick out the larger part of the rich for itself; and the poor, if they want churches, must build them." It has built itself a $100,000 church, and other societies are left to appeal to the East for aid.

-Dr. Littledale, the notorious English ritual ist, says that he received "a special invitation to attend the Vatican Council and confer with a committee on Anglican difficulties," and would have done so had he not learned that Manning Cullen, and other pronounced Ultramontanes composed the committee. This he regarded as a declaration of war, and staid at home.

-The Bishop of Sodor and Man has been condemned to pay £400 damages for a libel contained in a charge delivered by the bishop The controversy had reference to some ritual istic practices which his lordship was charged with countenancing.

-The decision of the lay delegation question in the Methodist Episcopal Church becomes exceedingly doubtful, and 5 or 10 votes may carry it either way. At present, as we learn from the Methodist, the clerical vote stands 1297 against the measure and 4190 in favor. This gives the friends of lay delegation the necessary threefourths vote, and enough over to balance about 70 more negative votes. But the remaining conferences will not give nearly three-fourths for the measure. The Advocate, edited by Dr. Curry, the leader of the opposition, a few weeks ago gave a "guess" how each conference would vote: the conclusion being that the question would be lost. Comparison of the actual votes with the Advocate's "guess" shows that there have been cast 100 more votes for lay delegation and 20 less against it than Dr. Carry conjectured If the same ratio continues, the measure will be

The fallure of the New England Methodist Conference to admit Mrs. Van Cott as a preacher, her name not having been even proposed, is apparently explained by a correspondent of the Methodist, who does not attempt to deny her success as an evangelist, but says that her sermon before the conference was not such as would recommend her. She is described as harsh and unnatural and affected in her manner. and greatly inferior in the matter of her discourses to the popular female speakers of the BAPTIST. -A mission interest has recently been commenced in the southwestern section of this city by members of the Tabernacle Baptist Church To aid in this enterprise a lecture will be delivered at Tabernacle Captist Church, on Mon-day, the 25th inst., by Rev. H. M. Gallagher, of klyn. This gentleman's church is near that of H. W. Beesher, and the crowd attendant at the church of Mr. Gallagher is equal to that found in the Plymouth Church. The lecture will be a very interesting one. Tickets at No. 530 Arch street.

A Baptist Educational Convention will assemble in Brooklyn next Tuesday. The most distinguished educators of the Baptist denomination—Drs. Anderson, Robinson, Hovey, Samp-son, Loomls, Weston, and others—are to present papers on various topics relating to education. The meeting will comprise delegates from the theological reminaries, colleges, academies, and educational societies.

—In the presence of a full congregation, Rev. J. H. Mac Elrey, of St. Alban's, Roxborough, baptized five persons last Sunday evening, 12th The pastor afterwards preached an impressive discourse upon the nature of baptism. -Shurtleff College (Baptist), in Alton, Ill., is suffering from the resignation of its President, Dr. Read, and of Dr. Pattison, its Professor of Theology, who takes charge of an institute in Missouri for educating colored preachers.

—Considerable opposition is made to the proposed union of the Baptist Publication and Bible

PRESBYTERIAN. -Hanover College and Wabash College both were started in Indiana in the height of the controversy preceding the Presbyterian disrup-tion. Hanover became Old School, and Wabash New School. The former, according to the genius and habit of its body, came under direct synodical control, and half of its trustees have been elected by the two synods of Indiana. Wabash had, according to the less centralizing genius of New School Presbyterianism as then existing, a board of trustees, self-perpetuating, and who reported to no ecclesiastical body. We see that Hanover College finds the ecclesiastical system unwieldy, and that at a late meeting of the trustees it was proposed to ask the synods to give up their right of nomination. Constant discussion in synod of the affairs of the college does more hurt than good.

Rev. Robert Acheson, Presbyterian minister in Galt, Ontario, Canada, writes to the Christian Instructor, reflecting on the nature of the revival which a year ago so powerfully affected that vicinity. He thinks the most visible fruits of the revival are "division in the churches and a spirit of lying and maliguity beyond descrip-Another Presbyterian pastor complains of the prejudice engendered against such doctrines as "election, limited atonement, and special operations of the Spirit." But it must be remembered that there is another class of Presbyterian churches there that heartily entered into the revival work and endorse its character. The Plymouth Bigthren were leaders in the movement which reached a class scarcely influenced before by the churches.

-As a step towards harmony, Albert Barnes has withdrawn his books from the New School Publication Committee, and several controversial works on the list of the Old School Board of Publication have been suppressed, while others, especially Dr. A. A. Hodge's "The Atonement," are being revised by the authors, so as to eliminate any reference to the late "un pleasantness" between the two wings of Presbyterianism. The only point of difference yet developed is that of the rivalry between New York and Philadelphia for the bureaus of the Benevolent Boards. The Old School Board of Domestic Missions is in Philadelphia, and the New School in New York, and neither wants to -The Old School Presbyterian Foreign Missionary Society is receiving this year less money last, notwithstanding the impulse that ought to have been given to their liberality by the union. The first eleven months of the fiscal year give $203,952 receipts, against $210,593 last year. This leaves $74,778 to be made up by the receipts of April, or there will be a bad debt. Last year the debt was escaped only by the fact that a legacy of $68,200 swelled the receipts of April to $89,836. -The United Presbyterlans have 70,000 communicants and five periodicals, or one to every 14,000 members. They are, in the order of age, the Evangelical Repository, a monthly; the United Presbyterian, of Pittsburg, and the Christian Instructor, of Philadelphia, both large quarto papers; the Pulpit, a monthly, with sermons; and the Christian Worker. The Presbyterians are said by the Christian Instrucfor to have fifteen accredited periodicals, or one to every 30,000 of their 450,000 members.

—In view of the projected union between the English and the United Presbyterian Churches, the ministers of these bodies in and near Manchester exchanged pulpits on a late Sabbath.

—The Cumberland Presbyterian has reported over 2000 conversions and about 1500 accessions to churches during the first three months of the UNITARIAN.

A majority of the members of the Piscataqua (N. H.) Congregational Association have expressed themselves in favor of inviting Christians rather than church members to the Lord's Supper.

-At the annual renting of the pews in the Church of the Messiah (Mr. Colliers' Unitarian). Chicago, it was voted to abolish the system of selling pews by auction, and to give the present holders the right to keep their seats, if they wished. Three-fourths of the pews were thus held, and the rest sold at from $40 to $200 premium. The entire rental was $12,000. CONGREGATIONAL,

In Berkshire county, Mass., in 1829, there were 26 Congregational churches and 23 pastors. Now there are 33 churches and 14 settled pasters. Five churches have no regular service, and ten have less than fifty members each. These mountain towns are settled only by farmers; and, as Massachusetts cannot be a farming State, the population has drifted away to the towns or to the West.

CATHOLIC. -The schism in the Armenian Catholic Church of Turkey needs explanation. Owing to the partial protection afforded to the Greek Christians by Russia, and the Latin Maronites by France, they have bad an advantage over Armenian Christians, who had no powerful friends to intercede between them and the Mo-hammedan Government. This led a small body of Armenians in Syria to attach themselves to Rome 150 years ago; and about 40 years ago, as we learn from a letter from Dr. Edwin E. Bliss, in the Christian Union, nearly thirty thousand Armenians in and near Constantinople took the same step. They accepted the primacy of the Pope, but made little other change; and practically the primacy was not a supremacy, for they still were allowed to choose their own bishops and patriarch, subject only to the rathfication of the Pope. These Eastern Catholics, or Papal Armenians, were pleased enough with the French protection they gained until the present patriarch, Hassoun, began to assume, fifteen or twenty years ago, all power, and to appoint the bishops and also manage schools and civil affairs as he was directed at Rome. Still there was no open rebellion until Hassoun went to Rome, when the Armenians, with the consent of the patriarch's vicar, resumed the management of schools, hospitals, etc. When the patriarch heard of it he sent orders that this vicar should give up his power into the hands of another bishop, and reminded the people that opposition would be visited with excommunication. When the bull was read in the churches, the reader's voice was drowned with indignant shouts. It was torn from the doors of the churches. The people would not allow the absent patriarch's name to be mentioned in the public prayers. The Go ernment sympathized with the malcontents. The latter wrote to the Pope, begging him to interfere against the claims of the pa-

submit. Meanwhile seven ecclesiastics

anathematized; and now probably a third, least, of the Armenian Catholics of Constantinople are in revolt. The The Sultan Chrysostom, where the anathematized priests conduct worship; and the revolt is rapidly extending to Smyrna, Erzeroum, and other places where the community exists. This will be a serious defection, and of interest to American Christians, as it is among the old Armenians that our missions have such success. The whole Church is in a transition state, and the spirit of independence which now has relation only schools and temporal affairs may lead to further reforms in matters of faith. —The Munich correspondent of the Christian Wilness gives extracts of an address made March 10 by Dr. Dollinger, the leader of the opponents of the dogma of infallibility. His posi-tion is that a council has no right to promulgate new dogmas, but only to enunciate the old faith. He says no case is known where a co ucil has enounced a dogma except by general con-The very fact that the present que has so long been a mooted one is proof that it is not a part of the old revelation, and that no council is competent to add it to the received creed. Besides, the substitution of the infalli-bility of an individual for that of the Church at large is no development of doctrine; it is as truly a revolution as would be the substitution of a monarchy for a republic.

-O. A. Brownson denies that he ever used in Grownson's Review any such language as Rev. G. H. Hepworth has quoted from that magazine to the effect that it would be the duty of Catholics, if the Pope ordered it, to annex America to France. Still, notwithstanding his denial, Dr. Brownson admits that, if the impossible supposition were supposable, as a Catholic, he "would be bound to obey" the Pope.

JEWISH. -Two Jewish rabbis of New Orleans preached the same sermon at the Feast of Parlin, one of which was published in the Israelite of that city; and both took it from a sermon by the late Holdheim, which was published a few months ago in Berlin.
